

Alan Goff is a polished platform speaker specializing in PASSONOMICS. His world class programs help organizations secure the economic benefit of passionate people; and help individuals connect their passions to profits. He has taught thousands of individuals and organizations how to reach their highest potential by living with passion and purpose. Moving them from where they are now to where they truly want to be.

Since the age of seventeen Alan has held a variety of leadership positions and managed several successful business teams. He has owned a number of companies, one of which increased revenues 150% while retaining an impressive 42% profit margin and eliminated a half-million dollar debt – all under his direction, and all within a 12-week period. Don't tell Alan you can't achieve big goals fast.

Alan is the President of Achieving Goals Incorporated and the Director of Training for the Fast Track Group (A financial education company dedicated to helping Canadians get on the 'fast track' to financial freedom). He has been speaking professionally to audiences around the world since 2006 and has served as a Corporate Trainer and Executive Leadership Consultant to hundreds of business owners, CEO's and senior-level managers.

Alan not only entertains and educates, but hits hard with his 'tells it like it is', life-changing and character-building personal story. His content is rich and practical, his style dynamic and engaging.

Alan is a founding member of the John Maxwell team of leaders, receiving his certification as Maxwell Coach, Teacher and Speaker in 2010. The Metropolitan Executive and Professional Registry recognized Alan for 'Outstanding Leadership and Achievement' in 2005. From 2003 to 2005 Alan worked with the world-renowned Dale Carnegie organization, where he learned from the best teachers in the world and earned their prestigious 'Highest Award for Achievement'.

Alan has been published in national magazines including New York's 'Mainline Magazine' and the Canadian Institute of Management's 'Leaders in Management' publications. He has been featured on the CBS Network program 'Leading Experts' and is a favourite personality on numerous international radio shows. Alan has spoken to sales professionals in a wide variety of industries, network marketing professionals, colleges, schools, governments, and numerous associations. He has shared the stage with internationally-recognized experts, best-selling authors and politicians - and was even honored to speak to legislative assembly at the Nebraska State Capital in 2007.

Regardless of his audience, Alan is focused on communicating ideas that allow people and teams to realize their talents, abilities and strengths, and operate at their full potential with passion and purpose.

If you want to see real change in your life, or the life of your organization, connect with Alan . As an enthusiastic catalyst, Alan provides proven tools, and shows you how to use them, to achieve remarkable results.
